Hungary Reds Arrest 34, Say Bands Smashed

BUDAPEST, Jan. 27 (AP)—Hungarian police today announced 34 new arrests in Budapest. Twenty were accused as members of two alleged "counterrevolutionary" bands captured with large stocks of hidden arms and ammunition.

Each group consisted of 10 persons. One alleged band was apparently made up of teen-agers because all are being handed over to juvenile courts.

At the same time police announced another roundup had netted 14 persons accused of being criminals freed from the capital's jails during the October revolution.

The government press also announced four more persons had been sentenced at Miskolc, northeast of Budapest, for concealing weapons. One man was sentenced to death, one to 13 years imprisonment and a third to 10 years.

The arms and equipment captured in the latest Budapest raids reportedly included machine guns, rifles and grenades as well as 11 radio transmitting and receiving sets.

Meanwhile, Nopakarat, newspaper of the government-controlled trade unions, appealed to Budapest students, who sparked the October anti-Russian revolt, to return to their classes and cause no more trouble. The University of Budapest is scheduled to reopen early next month. Provincial universities already have resumed lectures.

Head Of Federal Workers' Union Plunges To Death

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Michael E. Markwood, 42, president of the National Federation of Federal Employees, plunged 90 feet to his death from a bridge here today.

Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald issued a certificate of death by suicide after fellow workers said Markwood had displayed an increasing despondency of late attributable to overwork and poor health.

Markwood plunged from Taft Bridge in Rock Creek Park and struck the Cathedral avenue roadway as two cars were passing.

Markwood was a native of Hagerstown, Md. He took over the presidency of the 100,000 member union in 1955 after being employed by the Army Chemical Corps Materiel Command in Baltimore.

15 Train Crewmen Snowbound In Pass

ALAMOSA, Colo., Jan. 27 (AP)—Fifteen crewmen aboard two Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad work trains were snowbound today on Cumbres Pass, 10,022 feet high on the Colorado-New Mexico border.

Nearly two feet of snow which had fallen in the area since last night increased total depth on the ground to 13 feet, 4 inches.

Meanwhile, the worst snowstorm in five years virtually isolated southwestern Colorado from the rest of the state.

Singer Ella Fitzgerald Enters N.Y. Hospital

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (AP)—Singer Ella Fitzgerald entered New York Hospital today for observation and treatment of what was described as an acute abdominal condition.

The 37-year-old Negro songstress opened an engagement at the Paramount Theater here last Wednesday. A spokesman for the singer said she had complained then of not feeling well.

Statement Hits Hammarskjold Peace Formula

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 27 (AP)—Israel offered tonight to negotiate with Egypt for a peaceful settlement in the Middle East.

The Israeli delegation to the U.N. made the offer in a public statement criticizing Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's plan for keeping the peace after Israeli troops quit occupied territory.

An Egyptian spokesman declined to comment on the Israeli offer but Egypt has spurned similar suggestions in the past.

The General Assembly will debate Hammarskjold's report tomorrow. Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi and Israeli Ambassador Abba S. Eban are expected to give formal replies.

Agreement 'Beyond Repair'

The Israeli delegation said that to reaffirm the Egypt-Israel armistice agreement of 1949, as Hammarskjold suggested, would be "to revive an agreement which has collapsed beyond repair owing to Egypt's policy of belligerency against Israel."

"All efforts should be directed now toward the promotion of agreements for the establishment of a peaceful relationship between Israel and Egypt," the statement declared.

"For this reason, the parties should now enter into discussions on all matters and aspects pertaining to the recent hostilities."

An Israeli Foreign Ministry spokesman in Jerusalem also attacked the Hammarskjold plan.

Hammarskjold's report, published Friday, said Israel still had not fully complied with five Assembly resolutions asking for withdrawal of Israeli troops from Egypt and from the Gaza Strip, formerly under Egyptian administration.

Israel has said it cannot give up the Gaza Strip and the west coast of the Gulf of Aqaba, in Egypt proper, without guarantees that Arab commandos will not again raid Israeli territory from around Gaza and that Egyptian guns will not again blockade Israeli shipping from the gulf.

Policeman Dies In Resort Fire

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Jan. 27 (AP)—A policeman was killed and five firemen injured as a two-million-dollar fire swept through nearly a whole city block in this racing and health resort today.

Public Safety Commissioner Harry A. Burke said the entire business district might have been destroyed only for assistance given by 10 fire companies from surrounding towns. He estimated the damage.

Killed in a blast as he helped remove medical supplies from a drug store was Patrolman Fred Pettitt, 50. A piece of debris hurled by the explosion struck him on the head.

Burke said the fire apparently started in the rear of the Palace Bowling Alley, possibly from a furnace in the three-story brick building.

Fanned by strong winds, the fire spread to 10 shops in the block across the street from the Worden Hotel.

Sparkman Says Builders Are 'Committing Suicide'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) said today the nation's home builders are "committing suicide" in aiming at the upper-income market.

The only way the industry can prosper, the Alabama said in an interview, is by producing homes within the reach of all, and particularly middle-income families.

Sparkman said there was increasing evidence at the convention of the National Assn. of Home Builders in Chicago last week that most of the houses being planned will cost $15,000 or more.

CONFESSES — Edward "Bennie" Bedwell (above), 21, of Paris, Tenn., has signed a statement telling of a week spent with the teen-age Grimes sisters in cheap saloons and sleazy hotels which ended with the beaten girls thrown to a roadside where their bodies were found later, Sheriff Joseph Lohman said in Chicago yesterday.

Negro Homes Bomb Targets; One Misfires

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Jan. 27 (AP)—A second attempt to blow up the home of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. misfired today but another Negro's home was bombed in a new outbreak of racial violence.

Twelve sticks of dynamite wrapped around a metal tube were tossed on the porch at the home of King, a leader in the long and bitter fight against segregation. But the bomb failed to explode.

Another bomb tossed between a Negro house and a filling station a short distance away did go off, however, and damaged both buildings. Two Negro taxicab drivers and a third employee of the cab company headquartered at the service station suffered cuts and scratches but no one was seriously injured.

Family Away From Home

King, a Baptist minister, and members of his family were away from home at the time. The segregation leader said he hasn't occupied the white frame residence "for some time."

The bombing was another in a series of outbreaks of violence which began shortly after segregation was ended on Montgomery city buses Dec. 21 under a federal court order. The U.S. Supreme Court ruled city and state bus segregation laws unconstitutional.

Buses have been ambushed with gunfire six times and a young Negro woman passenger was shot in both legs. Four Negro churches and the homes of two pointegregation ministers were heavily damaged by dynamite explosions Jan. 10.

City Offers $2,000 Reward

Mayor W. A. Gayle said the City Commission decided today to offer a $2,000 reward for "any information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone who has thrown any bombs." After the Jan. 10 bombings, Gov. James E. Folsom posted a similar $2,000 reward.

A crowd of several hundred Negroes quickly gathered at the scene of today's bombing and King told them:

"We've got to let it be known all over Montgomery that to stop our quest for equality, it is going to be necessary to blow up 50,000 homes."

There are approximately 50,000 Negroes in Montgomery, a city of 125,000.

Decision Due Soon On Tito Visit To U.S.

Renewal Of Arms Aid To Yugoslavia Believed Likely

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Final decisions are due soon on whether President Tito of Yugoslavia should visit the United States in late April.

At the same time there are signs that the Eisenhower administration, under a policy of strengthening Tito's position as an independent Communist, will eventually resume sending military aid to Yugoslavia. The scheduled deliveries include a number of older-type jet fighter planes.

United States policy toward Tito has come under increasing criticism in Congress since it became known late last year that the Yugoslav leader probably would be invited to visit President Eisenhower.

Dulles Faces Battles — Relations between this country and Yugoslavia are among the questions on which Secretary of State Dulles and his aides may face new congressional battles once their present fight for Eisenhower's Middle East program is finished.

Other issues include a demand by scores of House members that the United States break relations with the Red satellite government of Janos Kadar in Hungary. The State Department is reported strongly opposed to a break on the ground that it would accomplish no positive result.

Any congressional inquiry into the Kadar question is likely to lead into last November's unsuccessful Hungarian revolt against Red rule. The administration's position has been that it did not inspire the revolt and could not give direct support to it without risking war with Russia.

Polish Issue

Another issue concerns Poland. Here the pressure in Congress has been to support economic aid in the belief the Poles have established substantial independence from Moscow.

Eisenhower wrote Chairman Gordon (D-Ill.) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee last Friday that he is considering arrangements to sell Poland agricultural commodities, fertilizer, farm machinery and coal-mining equipment. The Poles need credits to make the purchases.

Fugitive, Shot In Foot, Seized

TAYLORVILLE, Md., Jan. 27 (AP)—Richard (Fats) Snead, 29-year-old ex-convict charged with murder and robbery in the fatal beating of a Worcester County salesman, was recaptured near here today by a posse.

The Negro escaped late yesterday while being returned to Snow Hill after a lie detector test in Dover, Del. He jumped from Sheriff Edwin D. Lynch's car while the sheriff was paying for gasoline at a station about four miles north of Snow Hill.

Snead fled into nearby woods and disappeared. The sheriff, who was not armed, did not pursue him but called State Police.

The posse today consisted of a dozen State troopers, three deputies, a few civilians and two bloodhounds. Taylorville is about 20 miles from where Snead escaped.

Snead surrendered after being shot in the foot. Police said the fugitive had stopped during the night at an unidentified farm house to have his handcuffs cut off, but the farmer wouldn't assist him.

The prisoner was returned to the Worcester County jail at Snow Hill.

Turncoat Intends To Return To U.S.

HONG KONG, Jan. 27 (AP)—Samuel David Hawkins, former Oklahoma City soldier who chose to live in Communist China after the Korean War, has signified his intention to return to the United States.

The U.S. consulate here said today it had received information Hawkins, a former private, is on his way out of China and probably will cross into Hong Kong this week, perhaps Tuesday.

Hawkins is reported to have married a White Russian girl during his three years in China. The consulate said it had no word on whether she was with him.

His departure will leave in China 13 of the original 21 soldiers who were captured by the Communists and refused repatriation after the war. Six have returned and one died of a heart attack in China.

Aid March Of Dimes

Mrs. James P. Mitchell (top, right), wife of the secretary of labor, calls at the White House and collects Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower's contribution to the 1957 Mothers' March on Polio. Some four million mothers will take part in the nationwide fund drive. At bottom are two of the dresses that will be shown at the March of Dimes Fashion Show in New York tomorrow. At left, Betty Bridges models a $5,000 ball gown. At right, Dorothea McCarthy wears a bell-shaped tunic silhouette of Swiss organdy, which is hand-embroidered in flame motifs.

"Drifter" Admits He, Friend Beat Sisters And Dumped Bodies

Last Day Of Week Of Sin Retraced

CHICAGO, Jan. 27 (AP)—Edward (Bennie) Bedwell today retraced the last day of a sordid week which, he told police, ended in the beating of the two Grimes sisters and the dumping of their nude bodies beside a lonely road.

Sheriff Joseph Lohman said the 21-year-old Skid Row illiterate, part-time dishwasher signed a statement early today. It came after four days of what police described as inconsistent accounts and vague answers to questions about the slain girls—Barbara, 15, and Pat, 13.

The sheriff said the signed statement related that Bedwell and a friend he knew only as Frank "kept" the girls for seven days in cheap hotels and rooming houses in the squalid West-Madison street district and that, when the sisters finally rebelled against more immorality in an auto, the two men knocked them out, stripped them and abandoned them, unconscious, in below-zero temperatures.

Late today, Bedwell was booked on a murder charge in Bedford Park Sheriff's Police Court. Judge Irving W. Eiserman told Bedwell he would be allowed no bail and ordered him confined in the county jail.

Authorities, meanwhile, pointed out some inconsistencies in the statement as signed by Bedwell. It said the girls were slugged, but an autopsy showed no significant marks of violence on the bodies. Also, the statement said the girls ate a hot dog shortly before their bodies were tossed away. The coroner says there was no trace of food in one of the bodies.

Taken on what Lohman described as a brief re-enactment of the slayings this afternoon, Bedwell appeared confused and nervous.

Caravan Grows

More than 80 cars originally were in a caravan headed by police officials and at each of four stops made by the parade of autos still more cars hooked on. Hundreds of spectators swarmed around the officers and Bedwell whenever it stopped.

First stop was the Sunny Lane drive-in restaurant in suburban Summit. It was here, Bedwell

Stassen Reveals Bomb With Little Fallout U.S. Goal

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen said today the United States is trying to develop a small nuclear bomb, "without a fallout of any consequence," as a means of forestalling a nuclear attack on this country.

For this reason alone, Stassen said, tests of U. S. nuclear weapons must be continued.

"Those who—with good intentions—speak of stopping the tests are really not talking in sound terms for the defense of the free world," Stassen said.

Stassen, President Eisenhower's special assistant on disarmament matters, told an ABC television panel show—"College News Conference"—the proposed bomb is not a "clean" weapon, but one with a minimum of fallout. He declined to give details, but said it was as powerful as the atomic bombs this country dropped on Japan in World War II.

U.S. Information Official In Korea Raps Ike Policy

TOKYO, Jan. 27 (AP)—A U. S. government information official in Korea today criticized President Eisenhower's Middle East doctrine. He called it a policy that "may lead us beyond the brink and into atomic war."

Charles Edmundson, 53, a government information official since 1949 and a newsmen in the United States before that, said the President's "call for a blank check to make war as he sees fit . . . constitutes a demand for Congress to abdicate . . . the duties and prerogatives vested in it by the Constitution."

Reporter Ban Criticized

He also criticized the U. S. government for refusing to let American reporters go to Red China. He speculated the reason might be "that the State Department fears that news correspondents might reveal operations of the Central Intelligence Agency or other intelligence personnel active there."

Edmundson's four-page statement, which he personally handed to reporters in Tokyo today, also assailed American aid to Korea operations, "reckless so-called investigations" of government employees, and "planting atomic bases . . . under the noses of other nations."

Koreans 'Overcharged'

He charged Korean farmers are being charged "about 2½ times the official price" for 150 million dollars worth of U. S. supplied fertilizer. This fertilizer is supposed to be sold to Korean farmers at a set price, he said, and Korean currency collected for that sale to go into a "counterpart fund" for reconstruction work in Korea.

Edmundson claimed, however, that a special committee of U. S. consultants had discovered only 13 per cent has been paid into the fund.

William Eythe, Film Producer, Actor, Dies

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 27 (AP)—Motion picture producer and actor William Eythe died last night at the age of 38. Death was caused by hepatitis, a liver infection.

Eythe became ill about four weeks ago. He entered Good Samaritan Hospital last Monday and sank into a coma yesterday afternoon.

One of his last visitors was actress Carol Channing, whom he discovered in 1948 and cast in his stage production "Lend an Ear," which ran two years on Broadway.

At several stages during the reconstruction, the girls' father, Joseph Grimes, and some women relatives of the sisters attempted to push up to Bedwell but officers kept them back.

Lohman said that in his signed statement, Bedwell related that the week of sin began Jan. 7—a Monday, when he met the girls with Frank in a bar, and ended Jan. 13, a Sunday.

It was "about 9 o'clock" the night of Jan. 13, his statement said, that he and Frank, angered because the girls resisted their advances, beat them in a car they had driven to Willow Springs.

Probe Sought Before Action On Resolution

Lack Of Confidence In Secretary Grows, Humphrey Asserts

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said today Secretary of State Dulles' usefulness may be nearing an end because of what Humphrey called Congress' "growing lack of confidence" in the Cabinet member.

Sens. Sparkman (D-Ala.) and Kefauver (D-Tenn.) joined Humphrey in calling for an investigation of Dulles' conduct of foreign affairs, a project Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.) has predicted the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services committees will undertake.

Fulbright said today he will ask the committees to make such an inquiry before they act on the administration's Middle East policy resolution.

The Arkansas Democrat conceded in a CBS-TV interview, "face the nation," that a review likely would be delayed until the committees complete their study of the resolution.

Confidence Question

In that case, he said, he will vote against the resolution because he is "unwilling to express any confidence" at this time in Dulles' conduct of foreign affairs. He said a vote for the resolution would imply such confidence.

Humphrey said Democrats have "no choice" but to support some form of a resolution giving President Eisenhower military and economic authority to counter any Communist expansion into the Middle East.

But he insisted the administration's resolution, drafted by Dulles, did not represent any constructive step toward meeting Middle Eastern problems.

"The resolution is not directed at the real danger of Communist infiltration of the Middle East," Humphrey declared in an interview. "We are being prescribed the wrong medicine and I'm afraid we need to change doctors."

The administration plan calls for countering Red infiltration with economic aid. Eisenhower would have authority to use U. S. armed forces only against open Communist aggression.

Wrong "Prescription" — "Dr. Dulles has not diagnosed the situation or prescribed correctly for it," Humphrey said. "There is growing lack of confidence in Dulles and the policies he is pursuing. There is a growing feeling that Mr. Dulles may well be a casualty of the cold war, just as Mr. Eden was."

Anthony Eden resigned earlier this month as British prime minister, pleading ill health. He stepped down in the face of strong criticism of British intervention in last fall's Middle East fighting.

Senate Republican Leader Kenneth of California said he doubts "it is appropriate for the supporters of Adlai E. Stevenson to pick President Eisenhower's secretary of state."

Sandys Greeted At Washington

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (AP)—British Defense Minister Duncan Sandys arrived today for four days of talks which could change the nature of U.S.-British military cooperation.

The talks are expected to center about guided missile supply and development, and could result in U.S. production of such weapons for Britain, which is now planning a reduction in defense expenditures.

Sandys, the first high-ranking British official to visit Washington since the Suez invasion, was warmly greeted at National Airport by U.S. Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson.

Air Force Secretary Donald A. Quarles also was on hand, as were British Ambassador Sir Harold Caccia, Asst. Secretary of State C. Burke Elbrick and British Embassy officials.

The Briton is to lunch with Wilson tomorrow. The talks are scheduled to continue through Tuesday. Sandys then will fly to Ottawa, Canada, and return to Washington for two more days of conversations beginning Thursday. He is slated to fly back to London on Saturday from New York.

French-Israeli Deal?

Woman Driver Awaits Action Of Grand Jury

Mrs. Lolita Delores Llewellyn, 35, of Midland, has been freed under $1,000 bond pending action of a manslaughter charge against her by the April grand jury in Allegany County Circuit Court.

The Midland woman was given a hearing Saturday morning before Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason. He set bond at $1,000 after the state played a jury trial.

Mrs. Llewellyn was driving the car which struck Cecil Ashward Tomlinson, 78, of RD 1, Frostburg, on the night of January 12.

Tomlinson died nine hours later in Miners Hospital, Frostburg, of injuries sustained in the accident. He suffered a fracture of the left leg and compound fracture of the right leg.

Trooper D. A. Tucker of the Maryland State Police investigated the accident.

Tomlinson's death marked the second highway fatality in Allegany County this year.

Daniel Rankin, 32, Eckhart, was killed immediately the same night when his automobile crashed at Clarysville on U.S. Route 40.

Jaycees Start Job Survey In Piedmont

Data Is Sought on Unemployed

PIEDMONT — The house to house survey on industrial relations, sponsored by the Tri-Towns Jaycees, assisted by other organizations in the community, got under way in Piedmont Friday.

It is the purpose to contact every person in a ten mile radius of the Tri-Towns to determine the number of people who are employed and unemployed. The survey will ascertain what the unemployed are best qualified to do. After the canvass is completed the results will be analyzed and records be placed in a public place where industries who are looking for employees may secure the information they may desire.

Several days ago the work was begun in Luke and is expected to get under way in Westernport on February 11 and hope to have the canvass completed by February 16.

John Raschella is chairman of the project and chairman of the steering committee in the Keyser area; Luke, William Thompson, Piedmont area; Kenneth Riley, Luke, Bloomington and Beryl area; James Hoover, Westernport area and Kenneth Froman, McCoolle area.

The members of the Piedmont Women's Club are assisting in Piedmont and various groups of the different areas are participating in the survey.

Barton PTA To Run Mothers Polio March

BARTON — The Barton PTA will provide volunteers for the annual Mothers March here to be held Tuesday night.

The group of volunteer solicitors and their areas include: Dog Wood Flat, Norma Jean Metz, June Clark, Ann Metz, Josephine DeShong and Mae Smith; State Road, Jennie Mae Trenum; Dutch Row, D. Iberta Schramm; Railroad Street, Beryl Clark; Eutaw Street, Alice Ashby and Sarah Broadwater; Lower Quality, Betty Lamberson; Upper Quality, Ruth Moore; Temperance Row, Ruth Shuart; Butchers Run, Evelyn Suder.

Moscow, Helen Jenkins and Peg Shaw; Mill Run, Mrs. DeShong and Mrs. Durham; Kyles Settlement, Virginia Kyles.

Residents of the entire area are asked to burn their porch and outside lights to help brighten the way for the solicitors.

Westernport Red Cross Board Filled

WESTERNPORT — Members of the Board of Directors were named at a meeting of the Westernport and Luke Branch of the American Red Cross by Miss Bella Tonry, chairman, held at the Westernport Council Chamber.

The board includes Rev. Linus Robinson, pastor of St. Peter's Catholic Church; Miss Naoma Flanagan, Mrs. Elizabeth Thomas, Mrs. Foster Daniels, Mrs. Benjamin Mamolen, Mrs. Paul Cueva and Edmund Getty. Additional members are expected to be added to the board, Rymer, Ferrell, representing the Luke Mill of the West Virginia Pulp meeting.

Some of the problems facing the organization were discussed and it was pointed out many services performed by the local unit many of the citizens do not understand. The Red Cross bloodmobile made three visits here in 1955, costing the local unit $454.60, and for the two visits in 1956 the expense was $297.54.

The availability of the citizens to get blood without cost when it is needed is of great importance to the citizens in the area where voluntary blood is given. The only cost to the one receiving the blood is for administering it to the patient.

Experts Say First Earth Satellite Could Be Dud

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (P)—The men who have the tricky job of launching an earth satellite say they are optimistic about the prospect of success on the first attempt—but they have their fingers crossed.

Despite the meticulous, step-by-step testing of each component, the artificial earth satellite system is so complex and unprecedented that scientists may not attain their goal when the button is pressed for the first full-scale try, perhaps sometimes late this year.

The huge three-stage rocket designed to carry aloft the 20-inch metallic ball might not fire or it might not put the sphere into the precise orbit desired by the scientists. Also, any one of several seemingly minor but immensely important other errors might occur.

Scientists emphasize that any failures or faults in the first, or even the first several launchings should not be viewed with embarrassment. If desired results aren't obtained, the first full-scale shot will become just another in the progressive steps toward eventual success.

Patient Sets Self Afire In Hospital

BALTIMORE, Jan. 27 (P)—An elderly patient in Baltimore City Hospitals' chronic illness division was seriously burned today when he apparently set himself afire with a cigarette.

The hospital said Charles Kelly, 81, who had no known address other than the hospital, suffered third degree burns of the upper chest, throat and chest. His condition was described as not good.

Project Vanguard already have made a test firing of a rocket somewhat similar to that which will be used as the first-stage motor.

A report yesterday that the Air Force's first effort to launch a Thor Intermediate-Range Ballistic Missile went awry demonstrates the impossibility of guaranteeing success in an initial attempt. Months of work had gone into assembling and checking and rechecking the missile. But in the firing attempt last week the missile was reported to have crashed to the ground almost immediately upon becoming airborne. The Pentagon would neither confirm nor deny this report.

Mother Held In Tot Starvation Death

HAGERSTOWN, Jan. 27 (P)—Mrs. Mary Jane Clark, 24-year-old mother of five, has been charged with causing the death of her two-week-old son through neglect resulting in starvation.

She was held for Circuit Court action yesterday after Deputy Medical Examiner S. R. Wells said young Charles Edward Clark starved to death.

Deputy Sheriff Claude Cline said the baby died in "an indescribably filthy hovel." The baby's weight had dropped from 8½ pounds at birth to 4½ pounds when he died.

Authorities said Mrs. Clark told them she thought she was feeding the baby in the proper manner. Her husband is serving a prison term and authorities said Mrs. Clark had received $122 a month for the past two months in welfare funds.

Two Men Held In Fla. Slaying

DELAND, Fla., Jan. 27 (P)—The robbery-slaying of Paul J. Kliever, 40-year-old Baltimore hitchhiker, led to murder charges against two carpenters today.

Sheriff Rodney Thursby said a charge of first degree murder was filed against Arthur L. Green, 29, of Ormond Beach, held without bond in the Volusia County jail here.

The other charge is against Ernest L. Boone, 41, arrested last week in Baltimore in a forgery investigation. Boone became linked with the case when, Baltimore officers said, he gave unsatisfactory answers when questioned.

Thursby said Green was arrested on basis of Boone's questioning at Baltimore and admitted knowing Boone, who worked at Ormond Beach four months last year. Green denied any knowledge of the slaying.

A warrant for Boone is being sent to James Hendrick of the Florida Sheriff's Bureau who is in Baltimore on the case.

At Baltimore, Boone was ordered held today in $10,000 bond on 10 charges of forgery. A conference is scheduled there tomorrow to determine whether Maryland should waive its charges and release Boone to Florida authorities.

Kliever, an itinerant painter, shipyard worker and electrician, was found dead on the city dump at Ormond Beach, a suburb of Daytona Beach, Dec. 23. His pockets were turned out and name labels had been ripped from his clothing.

Algeria General Strike Launched

ALGIERS, Jan. 27 (P)—Algerian communications workers left their jobs tonight, apparently starting a general strike against French rule ahead of schedule.

A week-long strike throughout Algeria has been called by the National Liberation Front to begin tomorrow.

Strengthened security forces patrolled the capital as French officials braced for the general walk-out.

Communications in the city were hampered as an unannounced number of employees quit work. Authorities called for European volunteers to replace them.

Algiers was tense following explosion of grenades in three crowded cafes along the city's main street last night. Five persons were killed and 50 wounded in the attacks. Activity in the streets this morning was mainly limited to housewives standing in line to lay in supplies of goods which might be cut off by a strike.

President Returns From Camp David

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (P)—President Eisenhower returned to the White House late today after a weekend of relaxation at his Catocin Mountain lodge at Thurmont, Md.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower, accompanied by a party of guests, arrived at 5 p.m. EST. The automobile trip through Sunday traffic took an hour and 45 minutes from Camp David, 65 miles north of the capital.

Man Takes Life With Gun Handed Him By Officer

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 (P)—"If I had a gun, I'd kill myself," Robert Ponton, 35, and jobless, reportedly told a railway policeman today.

Police, reconstructing the incident at a Hudson River pier, said the officer, Walter Ryan, 36, handed Ponton a .38 caliber pistol.

Ponton put the pistol to his right temple and fired one shot. He fell fatally wounded.

Ryan was arrested on a charge of abetting a suicide.

Police said Ryan told them he thought Ponton's threat to kill himself was a joke.

Bill Would Add 42 Judgeships

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27 (P)—Rep. Celler (D-NY) said today he is introducing legislation for the biggest single increase ever made in the federal judiciary—42 new permanent judgeships.

Celler, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said the increase would "alleviate the current congestion" in U.S. courts, while "at the same time attacking the backlog."

It would create the first new U.S. judgeships in three years and generally would follow the recommendations of the federal judiciary itself, expressed through the Judicial Conference of the United States. The federal bench in 26 states and the territory of Alaska would be affected.

The bill would create three additional circuit judgeships, two in the Second Judicial Circuit—New York, Connecticut and Vermont—and one in the Fourth Judicial Circuit—Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia.

A new district judgeship would be provided in Maryland.

Fog, Rain, Ice Hit Wide Area

(By The Associated Press)

Freezing rain and drizzle left a treacherous glaze from the Southern Plains into the Ohio Valley Sunday as frigid temperatures gripped the Northwest and plunged deep into California.

Glazing conditions which began in northern Texas Friday night spread across the lower Mississippi Valley into western Kentucky and Tennessee Saturday night. Fog covered most of the Southeast while rain or drizzle extended from the Texas coast into southwestern Virginia.

At least 13 deaths, seven in plane accidents, were attributed to the fog, rain and ice that has plagued northern Texas for nearly two days. Transportation schedules were short-circuited and highway departments warned motorists to stay off highways.

Temperatures early Sunday ranged from 8 degrees in the Panhandle to 66 at Brownsville, Tex.

fied with the September-October dates offered for 1957 and the board voted unanimously to ask the Maryland Racing Commission for the dates, Sept. 9 to 21, following the Timonium 12-day session.

The president complimented Harry J. Barton, general manager, for the excellent job he did in the Cumberland Fair than last year both with the races and the fair. Robert Price, member of the Fort Hill High School faculty, also was praised for his work as auditor after succeeding Frank A. Wolfhope. At the request of President Beall those present stood in silent tribute to the association's late vice president.

George Schwarzenbach was elected vice president, succeeding Wolfhope. Senator Beall was re-elected president, Carl F. Schmutz, secretary, and Harry J. Barton, general manager.

John H. Mosner, newly elected director, also was named to the racing committee to which Philip J. Arendes, George William Bibby, Earl C. Robertson and John J. McMullen are members. Fair Most Successful

The 1956 fair was the most successful in history and the manner in which it was supervised by Barton was commended by the State Fair Board, according to President Beall.

James McHenry, Garrett County farm agent, said that Garrett people have taken more interest in the Cumberland Fair than ever before and Joseph Steger, Allegany County farm agent, proposed the erection of another cattle barn due to the gradual increase in beef exhibitors.

New Roof Proposed

General Manager Barton proposed that the porch of the jockey club be covered with a fiber glass roofing to protect patrons on rainy days. He pointed out that there is a traffic jam in the club house as a result of people crowding into the building during a rain and this interferes with the lines forming at the betting windows. He added that a new roof also would offer shade from the sun.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Disguise For The Full Figure

No one need tell you what to do to settle the problem of too thick a figure once and for all—diet and exercise until you slim down, then enough continuing diet and exercise to maintain suitable slimmness. But if new clothes are to be bought before there's time to reach the goal, look as slender as you can. Take care with what you wear and how you wear it.

Don't be tempted to buy a dress or a suit that you hope will fit sometime in the future. Never let yourself be seen in anything tight—nothing makes you look fatter. Have everything altered as much as needed for easy fit. Choose a silhouette that curves slightly, lines that draw the eye up and down, simple tailoring, and trimness. Avoid side fullness in skirts and thick, transparent, or shiny fabrics.

Elongate a short, thick neck with collarless necklines cut lower than the base of the throat, with V, deep oval, or vertical openings. When there is a collar, make sure it's flat, narrow, and perhaps pointed.

Insist on ease for the cut of armholes but avoid exaggerated sleeves. Take trimming with restraint on blouse, jacket or dress areas that cover an over-large bosom, trims that are flat and vertical or diagonal, not fluffy or horizontal.

Don't try to pinch a smaller waistline—it will emphasize bulges above and below. Stick to narrow belts that match, never contrast, and wear waist-length boleros or dressmaker jackets that are never longer than two inches below the hip bone.

And don't forget for a minute that posture has much to do with how plump you look. Slump down into your bones and you're solid and thicker than ever. Stand tall, chin up, shoulders back, abdomen in as you should and poundage minimizes.

Tomorrow—Undercover story.

WEEKLY BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—Partner opens with one spade and you hold:

♠ 7 4 ♥ 7 5 2 ♦ K 6 3 ♠ 10 6 2

What is your response?

A.—With this evenly balanced hand, containing only eight high card points, we are not inclined to make any bid which would force partner to speak again at an increased level. We, therefore, vote in favor of a one no trump bid. Normally it takes 10 points to justify taking out at the level of two.

Q. 2—As South you hold:

♠ J 6 4 ♥ 6 4 2 ♦ K 7 5 3 ♠ 9 7

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

Pass Pass 1 club Double

Pass 1 diamond East 2 spades

Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A.—Partner's bid of two spades is not forcing but it is next door to it. When a player first makes a take-out double and then jumps in a new suit he expects you to bid again unless your hand is absolutely worthless. While your hand is not especially impressive, it is by no means worthless. The recommended call is, therefore, two no trump, with a sizable demerit for a pass.

Q. 3—As South you hold:

♠ A K Q 4 2 ♥ 9 8 7 4 ♦ Q 4 ♠ J

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

1 club 1 diamond Pass ?

What do you bid?

A.—With this inviting distribution we would be inclined to insist upon a game contract, even though partner has shown no great strength by his overcall at the level of one. Only a call of two spades will be accepted as proper. A mere bid of one spade would not be forcing on North who did not open the bidding, and might decide to quit.

Q. 4—As South you hold:

♠ A Q J 10 2 ♦ K 10 8 4 ♠ A J 9 8 2

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

1 diamond Pass 1 spade 1 heart

What do you bid now?

A.—Our choice is two hearts. You should insist upon playing this hand for a game. Indeed, even if North has a minimum bid, there may be an easy slam if it happens to fit well. There is no way to describe the power of your holding after a previous pass, other than a cue bid in the adverse suit, which by inference, indicates a satisfaction with diamonds.

Q. 5—As South you hold:

♠ A Q J 10 ♥ A 5 ♦ A K 10 3 ♠ K 4 2

The bidding has proceeded:

West North East South

1 diamond Pass 1 spade Pass ?

What do you bid?

A.—An action at all is recommended at this point. There is no need to be desperate. The opponents have not yet contracted for game and when they do it will be time enough to assume the role of Horatius at the bridge. Partner should first be given an opportunity to act independently, without a distorted picture of the scene which action by you would paint.

Unpleasant Females

I don't know who is selecting the scripts these days for the Robert Montgomery show but somebody over there has got a big hate on for the womenfolk. The women on that show this season have been a mean and mixed up, if not downright vicious, bunch of females who may collectively have given misogyny the greatest boost it has had in years.

If memory serves, Mr. Montgomery opened his season with a rehash of Sally Benson's old play "The Young and the Beautiful" which was based on the Josephine stories by F. Scott Fitzgerald. The heroine is an appalling teen-age subdue who chases all men from sixteen to sixty and abruptly loses interest in them when she catches them. She was an infuriating little kitten, whom every man in the audience would have enjoyed spanking, but I must say she was a devastatingly accurate picture of a teen-age type that is still with us and she was attractively played by Lee Remick.

Not all of Mr. Montgomery's heroines have been that interesting. In fact, many of them have been damned tiresome. The most tiresome of all — and the competition was pretty fierce for that title — was a character played by Martha Scott in a play called "Give and Take." This doll, the daughter of a poor mill owner, marries a rich mill owner and spends a long, long hour resenting the fact that he has so much to give her and she has little to give back.

Both as psychiatry and as drama, I found this one hopelessly banal. The husband was a creature of such patient nobility you wanted to kick him; the mother was exasperatingly patrician; the dialogue reached its pinnacle with the line: "Sometimes I think that taking is the only giving I can do," and Miss Scott grew so thoroughly obnoxious that we were all pleased when she fell downstairs and fatally injured herself.

Now, your really murderous and unscrupulous vixens are a dramatic treat and I've enjoyed them fully from Goneril to Reginia. But the mean ones who are also tiresome are pretty hard to take either in life or on the twenty-one inch screen and the Montgomery show has had more than its share this season. One particularly lamentable example was the heroine of "The Liar" who was exactly that. She lied about everything—her husband's job, her husband's best friend—but they were all transparent lies, none of which would have fooled an eight-year-old child; they seemed to have no very clear motivation ("I lied because I wanted to be more important in your eyes") I consider wholly inadequate; and they led to no dramatic denouement more rewarding than simple embarrassment.

Both "The Liar" and "Give and Take" were written in cliché-ridden prose about people who were not fundamentally interesting enough to hold your attention even if they lived next door. Both of them remind me of the sort of problem fiction that disfigured the women's magazines a good many years ago. (For all I know for the women's magazines still run that stuff but not for my benefit.) Just to round out the gallery there would have to be one pose of a mother who all but ruins her daughter's life by nipping you'd have difficulty remember-into the cracks between the her romances in the bud. This thing you had seen. Possibly, boards.

Failures In English Worry Educators

College and high school teachers of English generally feel a deep concern about the failure of many students to speak well, write well and think coherently.

This, it should be noted, is a failure in reasonable self-expression not only when the students enter high school and college, but also when they are graduated as more or less finished products of divisions of the American educational system. And because this is only too true, as employers of youth quickly are made to realize, there must be a lamentable failure either in the quality of teaching, in the planning of course content, or in both. Some sort of "aggressive action" is frequently demanded by pedagogues to remedy conditions that leave many students unable to read well or write well. But what sort of action, and at what point or points special stress should be laid in the 16-year stretch from entering elementary school to college graduation is left to educators generally to determine.

Reports from high schools, colleges and state departments of education are usually in agreement as to the facts, but not as to the causes or the means to obviate them. Some colleges and universities today are actually forced to resort to the teaching of English grammar, in the hope that thereby the student will be enabled to get the "feel" of the language, not in any pedantic sense, but to understand the ordinary "whys" and "why nots" and good usage of common speech. Have schools and colleges been so "modern" in their teaching of English as a constantly changing language that they have carelessly ignored fundamentals? If so, now is the time to revert to some abandoned practices.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky
Youth Finds A Way

Margaret Mead, the anthropologist, has challenged those of her colleagues, "in their late forties or older," who complain about something called "conformity" which they accuse our young people of pursuing. She who teaches young people, says:

"... There is today less blind, unquestioning acceptance of class or regional standards, more sense of choice and planning among styles of work and styles of life, more upstanding resistance to parental expectations that each generation should transcend the social level of the last, more willingness to reject values which were unquestioned in the last generation — such as the evident desirability of a college education—than there was twenty-five years ago..."

And this is altogether correct if one's memory can go back half a century or so when everybody knew the proprieties. Surely in the matter of clothes, a field where conformity is most usual, our young people do not conform at all, wearing all kinds and shapes and covering or uncovering their bodies as it pleases them. For instance, it would have been beyond imagination for a young man to go to the opera or to a concert in a sport shirt or that a young lady would go to classes in college in shorts or even slacks a century ago. In my time, one had to wear a collar and necktie or he would be asked to leave.

If clothes are an expression of one's emotions or only an indication of the extent of one's pocketbook, the fact is that uniformity has disappeared except perhaps that a girl's formals are stylized by the women's magazines, whereas a boy's tux has taken on a variety of colors, some of which are quite hideous.

Television and the women's magazines may have a greater influence than in earlier generations and a good commercial can put an identical can of cosmetics into every home, but whatever it is, young people are less coerced by their parents whether for better or for worse.

Often I think it is for worse but then every once in a while I am shocked into a realization that from the standpoints of morals, the next generation seems to be more rigid than their parents were, certainly in the 1920s, and if teenagers are foolish about "going steady" and such ideas, fewer of them than in my time are caught in devious mazes from which they cannot extricate themselves.

Professor Margaret Mead makes a very sharp point about this:

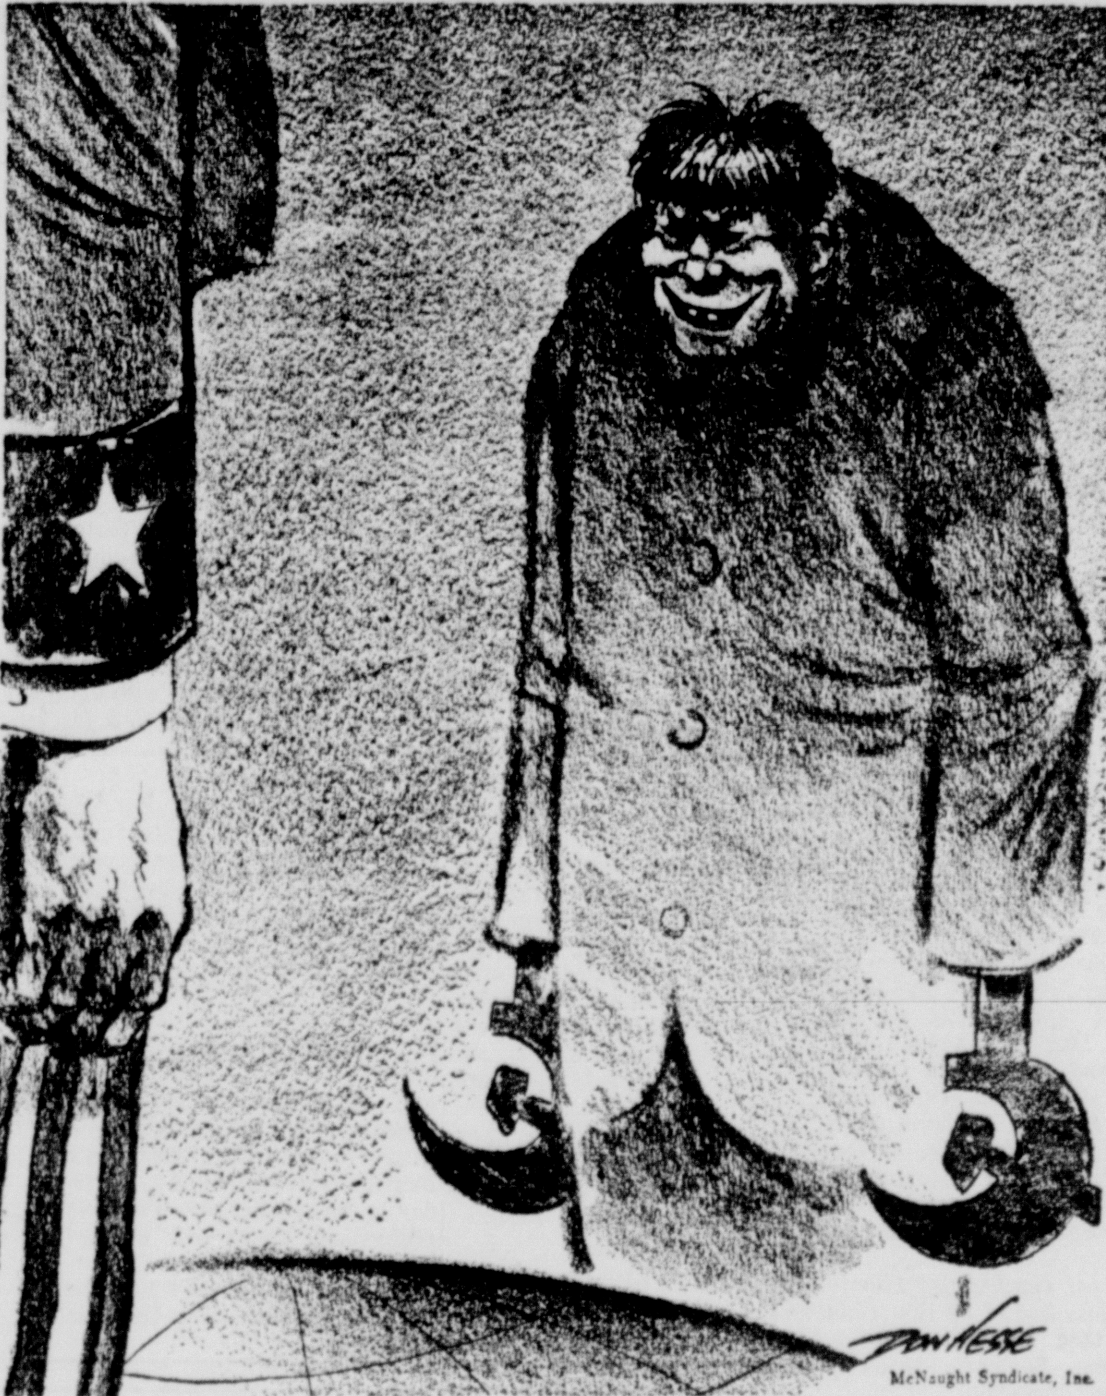

"Ours has always been a culture within which one staked out membership in a given group from the outside in. Clothes and manners came before more tangible signs of membership: peasant girls from the Carpathians wore high-heeled shoes before they knew a dozen words of English; the rebellious daughters of clergymen bobbed their hair before, not after, they read their first articles in Freudian psychology..."

Then she says:
"... And one hears, with both amusement and understanding, the passionate rebellion of the daughter of a successful peasant, now residing in a middle-class suburb and going to a good college, who rages against the 'bleak conformity' of American life as compared with the magnificent diversity and assumed freedom of the individual existing in a Europe she has never seen and would be unable to tolerate for twenty-four hours were she to participate in that life from the inside instead of admiring the changing regional styles in architecture — and faces — as depicted in cinema travelogues."

Unfortunately it does take several generations for a newcomer to absorb more than high-heeled shoes and satin set and such things. The significance of the Constitution in the lives of our citizens cannot be captured unless it is repeated and reiterated in every grade of school so that it becomes a living reality.

The emotional outcry about the Bill of Rights and Civil Liberties is no substitute for an understanding of our particular form of government and our way of life and why we are a federation of 48 states and not a despotism. However in this generation many young people know all about calculus and geophysics and Kafka and Khachaturian but nothing about "The Federalist" and Alexander Hamilton and how we happen to have a written Constitution with only 22 amendments and what the function of the Supreme Court is and why the President cannot run for a third term.

'I Have A Middle East Policy'

The 'Ike Doctrine' And Soviet Grand Strategy

By Joseph Alsop

MOSCOW
It has been an astonishing experience, here in Moscow, to read the reports of the Secretary of State Dulles' testimony on the Eisenhower Doctrine for the Middle East. Such hours have been devoted to the discussion of dangers that hardly exist. The very real dangers that do exist have been so rapidly glossed over.

The very violence of the Soviet reaction to the President's new doctrine must of course give a look of truth to the Administration's warning about the possibility of Soviet armed aggression in the Arab lands. But in fact there is not the slightest evidence here to suggest in any way that the Soviets have any intention of using their armed might in the Middle East, either now or for years to come. Indeed, all the evidence indicates that the Soviet leaders never had any real intention of resorting to force at any time during the Suez crisis, even at the moment when Premier Bulganin sent his threatening note to London and Paris and something unpleasantly like panic reigned in Washington. In truth, the real reason for the intensity of the Soviet reaction to the Eisenhower Doctrine was frankly stated by a brilliant Soviet expert on foreign affairs, who is the only member of the local hierarchy with whom this reporter has yet been able to talk at length.

"We think," he said, "that this is a pretext for putting the buckle on the chain of American bases which surrounds the Soviet Union."

This does not mean, however, that the Soviet program in the Middle East will now be abandoned. In a very long and quite absorbing conversation about the present and future world balance of power, there was one point on which the Soviet expert quoted above was visibly sincere. The Soviets, he insisted, would never be content to let well enough (or bad enough) alone in the Middle East or any other troubled area on the Western side of the line that now divides the world.

In the same fashion, in Paris after the first London conference on Suez, Soviet Foreign Minister Stepirov flatly told French leaders that his country "could never under any circumstances abandon its historic mission" of assisting in the "liberation" of peoples seeking to throw off the "colonial yoke."

Maybe the position would be different if it were certain that Soviet interventions on our side of the line could lead to general war, as it might have led to war if the American government had behaved about Hungary as the Soviet government behaved about Egypt. Maybe, indeed, the intervention in the Middle East would never have been attempted, if it had not been for the famous Summit meeting at Geneva.

Here in Moscow, this reporter has certainly found plenty of expert support for the opinion that President Eisenhower and Sir Anthony Eden were all too successful at Geneva, in explaining their remorseless dedication to peace at any price. At any rate, it must have been delightful for the Soviet leaders to hear about

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

There's no deductible doubt that Ten Downing Street is making its number the hard way.

In the good old relapses Winsome Churchill took everything in his stride like a Fiji fire dancer on yesterday's clinkers.

Winsome never let us forget he had an American mother. And never reminded England of it.

That's diplomacy of purest ray serene. And entitled Winsome to wear the silken plus-fours while hobnobbing-for-apples in the Crocodile pool.

When Anthony Eden took over the reins he found the donkey facing the cart. The more he whipped the less traction he got.

He kicked it around in Egypt like a cupid in a barroom fight. Now he's been told to fish, chop bait or go ashore.

Even with ninety per cent state we understand Winsome's broadcasts. Anthony's conversation is like sparkling champagne. He swallows most of it and the rest goes up his nose.

Meaning Of Pain Varies With Different Patients

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

More than 125 years ago the ablest and best trained French surgeon, Guillaume Dupuytren, was quoted as saying: "What a difference there is in the morale of those we treat in civil hospitals and those hit by murderous fire on the field of battle. The military man is accustomed to forgetfulness of self and is familiar with the prospect of mutilation. He considers himself happy if he saves his life yet loses an extremity. As long as he is assured of security..." he faces with courage, even joy, the scalpel of the surgeon.

"But look at the unfortunate laborer, the farmer, or the artisan, whose work is the only resource of a large family. He is obsessed by fear; misery awaits him. His is a profound sorrow, a dark hopelessness. He accedes only with regret to the insistence of the surgeon. One should not be surprised by the difference in results."

In World War II, Dr. Henry K. Beecher of Boston had the opportunity of checking Dupuytren's conclusions. A large group of men who had been wounded recently on the Anzio beachhead were questioned. All had been subjected to uninterrupted shellfire for weeks and had extensive wounds.

Only men who were clear mentally, not in shock, and those not previously treated were included in the study. Each man was asked, "As you lie there, are you having any pain?" Questioning was stopped when the answer was "no" but if the wounded man said "yes" the physician said, "Is it slight, moderate, or severe?"

Then the soldier was asked whether pain was so severe that he wanted something for relief. Only 32 per cent said "yes."

These findings were contrasted with a similar questionnaire among 150 civilian men who had undergone surgery. The operations were performed on organs and bones paralleling those in the injured soldiers on the battlefield.

The trauma inflicted by the surgeon is less than that occurring in combat but there was no other way to make the situation comparable. The same questions were asked the civilians and 83 per cent requested a hypodermic for relief.

This study demonstrates that the intensity of suffering is determined to a great extent by what pain means to the individual. To paraphrase Dr. G. J. Guthrie relative to the suffering associated with the same kind of injury, the civilian writhes with agony whereas the soldier smiles with contempt.

TOMORROW: Fewer contacts, fewer colds.

AFL Chief Meany Plans Showdown With Teamster Boss Dave Beck

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—AFL-CIO President George Meany is scheduled to take on the head of the world's biggest labor union, Dave Beck, in Miami this week. Meany has tangled with Beck before, chiefly over Beck's sponsorship of the racket-ridden International Longshoremen, which the AFL-CIO outlawed. At that time, Beck backed down.

This time the showdown is going to be more serious, for the reputation and honesty of organized labor is on the spot following the refusal of teamster officials to answer questions before the Senate Investigating Committee in Washington.

Meany and the AFL-CIO Executive Council have taken a strong stand for clean unions. They mean it. Beck, therefore, will have to talk awfully fast or face the prospect of being purged.

Here are some of the things Beck has in his background which he and other teamster chiefs obviously aren't anxious to testify about.

Last year, the teamster czar sold a total of $890,000 worth of real estate in Seattle. Why he sold it in a relatively short space of time and where he got that much property in the first place is not known.

It's known, however, that Beck has been under income-tax investigation. The sale of real estate might have been to secure a capital-gains tax to pay tax assessments.

One thing the Treasury has been investigating is whether or not the $163,215 the teamsters paid to Beck for his house was a gift or income. Beck sold the house to the teamsters with the proviso that he continue to live in it. On top of that he also sold his furniture to the union for a reported $90,000.

At the recent Senate hearing it was indicated that a Seattle contractor was also paid out of union funds for repairs on Beck's house. This would put the union in the position of paying for repairs on the house, then buying the house it had partly paid for.

The teamster czar, who had been anti-Eisenhower in 1952, caused amazement in labor ranks when he suddenly came out for Eisenhower in 1956. Some of his colleagues remarked: "Beck's pulling an Adam Clayton Powell" — a reference to the Negro Congressman from Harlem who came out for Eisenhower after he got into tax trouble last summer.

Beck's Real-Estate Record
George Meany is a labor leader who believes labor leaders must not profit from the movement they represent. In his files as he meets Beck is a list of the teamster boss's fantastic real-estate deals. Here are the details:

February 27, 1956 — Beck sold two Seattle lots to the Joint Council Building Association, a teamsters affiliate, for $135,000. The deeds show he bought the lots Feb. 10, 1951, from Vincent Miller and John F. Miller for $1 each.

The lots are now used for private parking next to the teamsters headquarters. The union expects to erect a building on them.

In brief, Beck made a profit of over $100,000 by selling property to his own union. What some of his members would like to know is why the union didn't make the profit, not Beck.

On May 18, 1955, Beck sold 40 acres near 25 South Ave., in Seattle, to the Blakely Bros. Land Development Co. The records show that Beck and his partner, Sheriff Harlan Callahan, bought the property from the state November 25, 1952, for $6,000. They sold it for $45,000.

September 1, 1955, Beck sold some property occupied by the Sunset Distributing Co., a beer-distributing firm, to that firm for $100,000. According to the records of the Washington Secretary of State, the president of Sunset Distributors is Norman Gessert, a nephew of Dave Beck's wife, Loretta Gessert, listed as secretary-treasurer. Is Gessert's wife Beck had acquired this property May 1, 1951, for $45,000.

On September 8, 1955, Beck also sold a plot of land occupied by the K and L Distributors, another beer-distributing firm, at 4660 E. Marginal Way in Seattle, to the Cosmopolitan Co. for $225,000.

Beck had bought this property July 29, 1953, from his own realty company, which acquired it in 1947 for $91,000.

This again appeared to be a family sale. For the officers of Cosmopolitan are listed as Mrs. Beck's nephew, Norman Gessert; with Dave Beck, Jr., as vice president, and Simon Wampold, secretary. Wampold is the teamster czar's attorney and also a teamster official.

On January 28, 1956, Beck sold nine acres of land to the National Bank of Commerce, which was acting for an unrevealed trustee. The price was $137,500. Beck had bought the land for $14,000 from Howard Sparkman on March 15, 1948.

Beck also sold five lots on Boren Ave. and Jefferson St. in Seattle for a reported $85,000. He and an associate purchased the lots about nine years earlier for a total of around $30,000.

Battle In Kremlin
The next few weeks will decide which forces will emerge triumphant in the grim battle now going on inside the Kremlin. American diplomats have picked up enough information to piece together what they think is a reasonably accurate story regarding the battle staged by Communist Secretary Nikita Khrushchev to stay in power against the onslaught of old guard Stalinists.

Georgi Malenkov, brother-in-law of Khrushchev, who inherited Stalin's cloak immediately after he died, appears to be staging a comeback. Khrushchev's tolerant policies toward Poland, the West, and at first toward Hungary, had played into Malenkov's hands.

The man who came to Khrushchev's rescue was none other than Chinese Premier Chou En-lai, who rushed to Moscow because Khrushchev pleaded that he needed his personal support.

Chou, despite all his fiery talk about world Communist solidarity, actually is reported to favor Khrushchev's milder policies of less Communist control from Moscow. He favors the Tito-Gomulka school of a loose federation of Communist states, more or less independent of Moscow. And rather than see the Stalin crowd come back, he went to bat for Khrushchev.

This underground struggle for power in the Kremlin is the reason why both Tito and Gomulka have started to play down their differences with the Kremlin. Copyright, 1957, The Bell Syndicate Inc.

All postmen should be paid more. However, some should be paid more than others. Have you noticed the difference in mail delivery when the carriers on your route are changed? At times the change is for the better. At others, for the worse. It probably would not be practical for the government to institute a wage scale for postmen based on comparative ability. However, there is nothing to prevent highly satisfied citizens from giving their postmen something in the way of a bonus. Even if each family on the route gave their highly capable mail carrier a dollar a month as a bonus it would build up his income considerably.

AMONG THE MARRIED

A Los Angeles man obtained a divorce after 51 years of marriage. Imagine being divorced one year after the Golden Wedding. However, divorce after 51 years of marriage is not a record. In Kansas a man sued for divorce after 62 years of marriage. His wife was 84 years old. He said she was running around with other men.

Queries from clients. Q. "Who's Who In The Theatre," the book titled "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" and many encyclopedias and almanacs give the birthdate of George M. Cohan as July 4 yet you repeatedly state that is wrong. Even for a Brooklynite you are unusually stubborn, conceited and cocksure. Admit you are wrong. A. George M. Cohan was born in Providence, R. I., on July 3, 1878. That's what I continue to maintain. Q. What noble animal will emerge victorious in the Santa Anita Handicap? A. It is a little early to decide on that, sir. GUIDE TO GUYS

Men born under Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) make the best real estate agents and detectives. To get along with a Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) man encourage him to tell you his trouble but never tell him yours. Taurus (Apr. 21-May 20) men should marry Capricorn or Virgo women, preferably blondes. Pisces (Feb. 20-Mar. 20) men are the easiest to break into matrimonial harness. Not hard to train and never resist when a "His" apron is pinned on them for their cooperation in washing dishes or doing general housework. Cancer (June 21-July 22) men are easy to get and hard to hold. Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) men make better bachelors than husbands but if they are unable to keep their liberty, should marry Gemini or Aquarius women. Or, so say the stargazers.

SMOKERS

In this country three out of four males of 16 years of age or older use tobacco in some form. So do two out of five females. I forget how old I was when I began to smoke. I started with cubed cigars and then switched to a pipe. When I was 15 years old I started smoking cigars.

TWINS

Is it possible that a man whose wife gave birth to twins could be father of only one of them? That's what a Bostonian asks. Men of science say it is possible. In fact, not so many years ago a man seeking divorce made the claim that he was the father of only one of his twin daughters.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 27.—(INS)—A lady can change her mind, can't she? After saying "no" to starring in Darryl F. Zanuck's production, "The Sun Also Rises," Ava Gardner put her valuable name (with permission of MGM) to a contract to star in this Ernest Hemingway story.

This is no if, but, or maybe. Darryl cabled me that he has Ava's signature on a contract and that she will report to him the last of next month in Mexico. Henry King, the director, who is in London now conferring with Zanuck, already has footage filmed in Spain.

"The Sun Also Rises" is one of the Zanuck independently financed motion pictures to be made, of course, for 20th Century-Fox.

Anne Francis and Jerry Nathonson continuing their romance, started in Palm Springs, by dining at the Luau. Is it all over between Joan Davis and Jerry? Abbe Lane flies to Madrid for one day for the premiere of her Spanish picture, "Susanna And I," a la Ingrid Bergman.

Cubby and Nedra Broccoli, whom I saw often in London this past summer, are home and will vacation in Palm Springs with their two children.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Dazzling

White is the word!

White is right when it comes to your husband's shirts... we wash them dazzlingly white in Ivory Soap... iron them to a satin smoothness... and return them carefully boxed... as spotlessly fresh as when he bought them. We give you fast service when you need it, too.

McKeldin Budget Faces Going-Over

Hearings To Begin On Wednesday

By LOUIS PANOS

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 27 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin's 363 million dollar budget proposals move front and center this week in the parade of legislation before Maryland lawmakers.

With an election year coming up and the possibility of a major tax increase being discussed, the Democratic-controlled Legislature had promised to give the Republican governor's program a thorough going-over.

January 31 Is Deadline For Some Taxes

Employers are reminded that six types of taxes are due January 31—five for the fourth quarter ending December 31, 1956, and one annual return.

Taxes are due from:

1. Employers who file quarterly federal tax returns form 941. This combined return is for reporting withholding and Social Security taxes on employees.

Accompanying the above return, employers must transmit all withholding tax statements (Form W-2-Copy A) together with Form W-3 which is a reconciliation of income taxes withheld from wages during the calendar year 1956.

2. Employers who have domestic servants, such as janitors, cooks, maids, chauffeurs, and other workers who perform services of a household nature, are subject to Social Security taxes if $50 or more was paid in wages in the fourth quarter of 1956.

3. Persons liable for quarterly excise tax returns (Form 720) closing out the fourth quarter, December 31, 1956. Excise taxes include retail dealers excise taxes on facilities and services, manufacturers excise taxes, taxes on products and commodities.

4. Employers who during 1956 had four or more employees on 20 or more days, each day being in a different calendar week, are required to file Form 940, Federal Unemployment Tax. This return is required to be filed annually with remittance and is due January 31, 1957.

The first returns are due January 31, 1957—Form 2290 (October 1956) Federal Use Tax on Highway Motor Vehicles, which went into effect July 1, 1956, for the months of July, August, September, October, and November 1956. The tax applies whether or not the vehicles were used before July 1, 1956.

Public School Attendance Record Set

The percentage of pupil attendance at public elementary schools of Allegany County during December 1956 was the highest for that month in the past five years.

Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel, said yesterday the percentage was 95.4 per cent. The highest percentage of attendance for a single school in that division was 98.6 per cent.

Junior high schools placed second on the percentage basis for the five-year period and figures show 95.5 per cent of the students attended classes last December.

The Junior-Senior High division placed fourth with a percentage of 94 per cent in attendance, and the highest single school attendance percentage was 96 per cent. Overall attendance in all public schools of the county for December last year was 95.6 per cent. Mr. Higgins pointed out that the enrollment in public schools for December of 1956 was 15,571, which does not include about 167 pupils in the Lab School of Frostburg State Teachers College.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cook, Hagerstown, announce the birth of a son Thursday in Washington County Hospital there. The maternal grandmother is Mrs. Cecilia Akerson, 1123 Bedford Street, and the paternal grandparents are Rev. and Mrs. Nile Webb of Hagerstown, former residents.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Robinette, Hagerstown, announce the birth of a son Thursday. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Robinette, 209 Fairfax Street.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Whittem, Canton, Ohio, announce the birth of a son Friday. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Harper White, Potomac Park. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Judy, 511 Schlund Avenue.

Memorial Hospital
Mr. and Mrs. John E. Shaffer, Hyndman, Pa., a daughter Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Lewis, 150 Mary Street, a daughter Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Phillips, Ridgeley, a daughter Saturday.

Sacred Heart Hospital
Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Grim, Elerslie, a daughter yesterday.

Health Workers Plan Drive On Tramp Pigeons

Fowl Cited As Virus Reservoirs

Plans for resuming its pigeon control program were announced yesterday by the Allegany County Health Department.

Officials said the campaign will be launched with an attack on pigeons in city buildings and that the Department of Streets and Public Property has let a contract with Hygienic Sanitation Company for the work.

J. B. Dowling, head of the Sanitation unit, said plans call for ridding the business section of its undesirable guests.

Several merchants, he said are already in the drive, and the department is urging the Retail Merchants Association to cooperate.

Planned is a drive to build out, starve out or control the tramp pigeons.

Fowl, according to Dr. Winter R. Frantz, health officer, are a reservoir of infection for many virus diseases, and pigeons act as a carrier for virus pneumonia in humans.

The Health Department conducted a spirited drive against pigeons and starlings in the downtown area in 1955, and the situation was brought fairly well under control.

Pigeon fanciers were urged to eliminate culls from their flocks regularly, so they will not stray away to become "tramps."

Health officials said citizens can help by simply not feeding pigeons and starlings.

The birds, they said, roam residential sections in search of food and then roost in buildings of the downtown area.

Aliens Warned Of Deadline

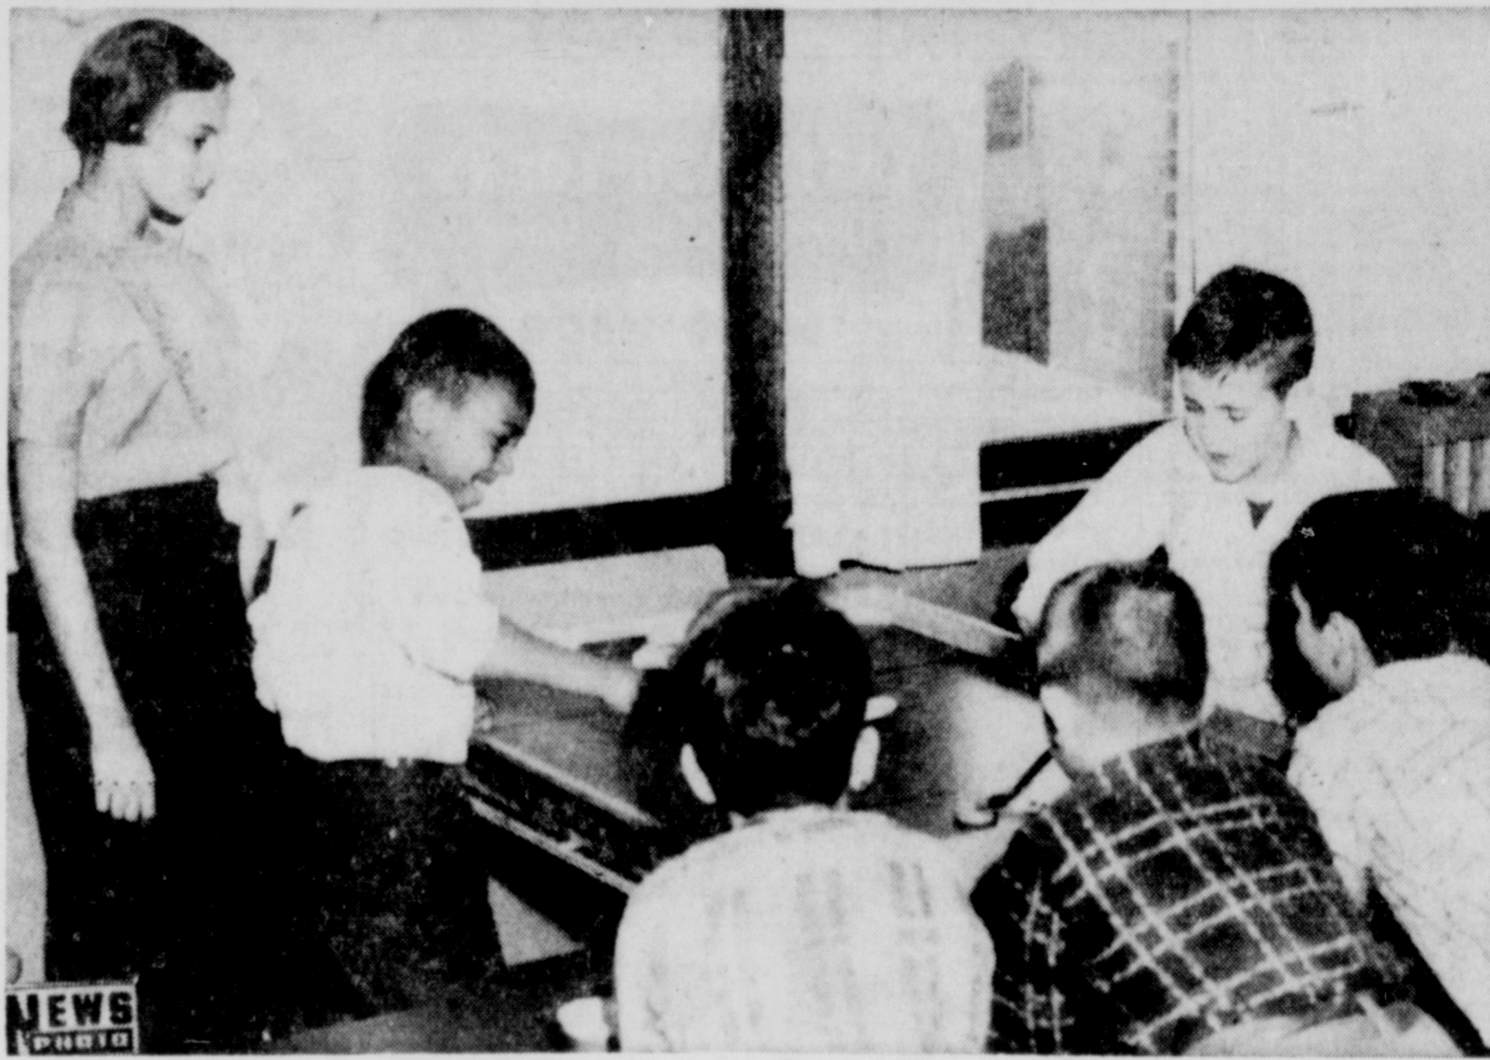

Aliens in Maryland were reminded yesterday by Donald T. Williams, district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service in Baltimore, that Thursday is the deadline for filing 1957 address report forms as required under provisions of the 1952 Immigration and Nationality Act.

The Immigration official urged aliens who have not yet filed their 1957 address report to do so by tomorrow night to avoid possible penalties.

Failure to comply with the requirements can mean a fine, jail sentence and deportation for a willful violation.

Mr. Williams said the law requires that every alien except those having diplomatic status, foreign representatives assigned to the United Nations, and Mexican national contract laborers, must file the address report during January of each year at the nearest post office or Immigration and Naturalization Service office.

Mr. Williams said an estimated 20,000 aliens have filed address reports so far this January. A total of 26,000 aliens filed address reports in Maryland last year. Reports for 1957 are expected to total 28,000.

'Y' Week Activities Begin

Rodney Keyes and Roger Wilfong compete in a box hockey game as Miss Pat Daniels, attendant, and a small "gallery" of spectators look on during the Central YMCA penny carnival Saturday in observance of YMCA Week, which opened yesterday.

Proceeds of the carnival went to the Y's World Service Program. Several other activities are scheduled for the rest of the week, beginning with a forum on alcoholism tonight and closing with open house next Saturday.

Dimes March Frostburg Man Will Be Held In Ridgeley As Teacher

Members of the Ladies Auxiliary of Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion, will join in the Mothers March tomorrow night in Ridgeley and will collect contributions in the drive against polio.

Mayor Charles H. Fryer, who is general chairman for the third consecutive year, announced last night that Miss Lillie Leighty, president of the auxiliary, will be in charge of the drive.

Those persons who will join in the March from 7 p. m. to 8 p. m. will be Mrs. Virginia Zimmerman, who will collect on Central Avenue; Mrs. Helen Hartman and Mrs. Opal Showers, Second Avenue.

Mrs. Mary Edenhart and Mrs. Agnes McCullough, Third Avenue; Mrs. Barbara Mulligan, Knobley Street; Mrs. Lillian Duer, Mrs. Eston Bowers, Mrs. Ruth Tabler and Miss Leighty, Main Street; Silver Street, Potomac Avenue, Washburn Avenue and Patapsco Street.

Headquarters for the drive will be the Council Chamber and the Legion Post Home. Mayor Fryer urges all workers to pick up their containers at 6:30 p. m.

Residents who are not contacted tomorrow night at home are asked to call the Council Chamber, RE 8-9400 between 8 p. m. and 9 p. m. and one of the workers will gladly pick up the donations.

Mayor Fryer also urges residents to put on their porch lights during the drive, as an indication they wish to contribute.

McKeldin Proposes Meeting To Discuss Potomac Problems

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 27 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin has proposed that legislators from four states and the District of Columbia meet here Feb. 18-20 to consider problems of flood control and pollution in the Potomac River.

Acting on a proposal of Maryland's Legislative Council, he suggested that lawmakers from Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, District of Columbia and Maryland attend the conference.

An overall conservation and use plan for the Potomac basin has been stymied by lack of coordination and congressional appropriations, the Maryland group said.

Frostburg Man Accepts Post As Teacher

Michael Patrick Cunningham Jr., 9 North Grant Street, Frostburg, decided over the weekend to accept the appointment as new fourth grade teacher at West Side Elementary School for the remainder of the school year.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster said yesterday that Mr. Cunningham had agreed to take the teaching position as soon as he can be released from his present position as a laboratory technician at the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America.

He will succeed Miss Nan Livingstone, this city, who has resigned effective at the close of the first semester which ends Thursday. She will teach in a Pittsburgh elementary school.

Mr. Cunningham is not expected to leave his present employment until about February 11.

A 1948 graduate of Allegany High School, Mr. Cunningham served in Korea during the Korean War and was graduated last June from Frostburg State Teachers College, where he received his B. S. in education. While in college he took part of his practice teaching at West Side School in Miss Livingstone's classroom. He also had some practice teaching at the Laboratory School in Frostburg.

The Maryland Farm Bureau membership committee has set a state goal of 10,500 members and has allocated a share to each county with Allegany County having the lowest goal—175 members.

This committee, which also set a Garrett County goal of 300 members, also adopted some new rules for the standard Farm Bureau certificates.

Under rules of standard county Farm Bureau qualifications, the committee will require:

Obtaining county quota of membership, with a well-planned membership program by using an organization director, as well as a campaign to visit every farmer with an invitation to join the Farm Bureau. They said a county must hold nine board and executive meetings as well as four educational meetings during the year. A special meeting to get farm opinions into resolutions is a must as well as utilizing the women and youth organizations in the program of work.

Rockefeller Fund Spends $227,600 In Maryland

Grants totaling $227,600 were appropriated for Maryland institutions and individuals by the Rockefeller Foundation during 1955, according to the foundation's annual report for that year just released.

This annual report disclosed that the foundation appropriated a total of $19,152,353 during 1955 and payments for that year aggregated $16,578,700.52. They were spent in 32 states, the District of Columbia, Alaska and Hawaii and 43 foreign countries.

The Maryland money was designated for Johns Hopkins University, the United States Department of Agriculture and the University of Maryland.

Johns Hopkins received $193,450 in 1955 for such things as protein biochemistry research, research, conferences and study by the School of Advanced International Studies, for an exchange program with the University of the Philippines and for research in virus diseases.

Dr. W. J. Zaunmeyer, Horticultural Crops Research Branch, Agricultural Research Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, at Beltsville received a $1,150 grant to visit the Colombian and Mexican agricultural programs.

A $33,000 grant was made to the University of Maryland to support research projects and to extend the training program in the Department of Botany. The laboratories of Dr. Robert Krauss there have become a major center for research and one of the few places where students can go to acquire training in algal physiology. The importance of marine and fresh water algae as a possible source for supplementing the world's food supply has emphasized the need for more training centers for scientists in this field.

Some $62,882 was granted to West Virginia in 1955. All of this money went to the American Symphony Orchestra League Inc., Charleston, W. Va., for a training program for conductors, organization of information on orchestral groups and preparation of model patterns for organization of symphony orchestras.

Pennsylvania grants totaling $61,645 were divided among the American Studies Association, Bryn Mawr College, Curtis Institute of Music, Lehigh University, Pennsylvania State University and the University of Pennsylvania.

Penn State received $7,295 for research into the role of Soviet ideology and national interest in the formulation of Soviet foreign policy. The study was undertaken by Vernon V. Aspaturian, an assistant professor.

The company during 1956 showed a membership of 80 men of whom 35 are classified as active firemen. The unit is equipped with two large pumps and an auxiliary tank truck with a pump attachment.

Corriganville firemen also operate a community ambulance service, Chief Martz noted, with about 18 men contributing a total of 194 man-hours on 73 ambulance trips and traveling 4,900 miles. Two and generally three men accompany the ambulance on these mercy calls. Donations of $451 were received for the ambulance fund during the year, largely from those who requested service. In addition the ambulance was on a standby basis 12 days at the Fairgo Race meet, one day at the Sports Car Races, one day at the Sports Car Hillclimb, and six days at the Cumberland Fair.

Richard Long, of 702 North Centre Street, a junior at Allegany High School, has been named a campus editor for Dig magazine, an international magazine for teen-agers.

The first social event of 1957, the informal dance will get under way at 9 p. m. with music by the Wally Ganger orchestra of Uniontown.

Officials said the band is being brought back by request, because of its popularity at the New Year's Dance.

Federal Help On Pollution To Be Outlined

Sponsor Will Speak At River Meeting

Rep. John A. Blatnik, of Minnesota, sponsor of the new Federal Water Pollution Control Act, will discuss the role of federal aid in water resources conservation at a meeting of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin in Washington, D. C., January 31 and February 1.

The new federal program, which went into effect last June, calls for grants in aid of $50 million yearly to communities for the construction of pollution control facilities.

Rep. Blatnik's address will be of particular interest to citizens in the Potomac River valley since many municipalities of the Potomac region have applied for aid under the new act, and it is hoped that this act will stimulate real progress in cleaning up the Potomac River. Actual distribution of federal anti-pollution funds is expected to begin early this year.

The development of programs for small watersheds will be another feature of the opening day's schedule to be held at the Hotel Washington. Malcolm P. Crooks, director of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watershed Association in New Jersey, will present a paper on "Regional Planning—a Guide for Watershed Development."

The programs and accomplishments of the Monocacy River Watershed Association and the Rock Creek Watershed Association, both within the Potomac River Basin, will be outlined by Solomon Hoke and Col. Lathrop Smith. Gladwin Young, deputy administrator of the Soil Conservation Service, will discuss "Land Use in Urban Fringe Areas."

The problems involved in cleaning up the Potomac River in the Washington metropolitan area will also be considered during the winter meeting, with progress reports scheduled from all the major jurisdictions.

Wolman To Speak
The banquet speaker on January 31 will be Dr. Abel Wolman, of Johns Hopkins University. Dr. Wolman, one of the country's leading authorities in the field of sanitary engineering, has had a life-long interest in the Potomac River and is currently engaged by the Potomac River Commission to prepare a master plan for pollution control in the Washington metropolitan area. His address will be on "Conserving the Potomac for Optimum Use."

The two-day meeting will close at noon on February 1 after hearing reports and recommendations for action from the Commission's four standing committees, and from a special committee which has been engaged in studying the need for revising and broadening the Potomac River Commission's compact.

The list of fire calls included six brush fires, three fires in private dwellings, one in a motor vehicle and three in private garages. The $140 loss total was listed as an automobile fire, damage $120; dwelling fires, $20. There was no estimated loss on the brush fires and there was no damage in the fires in private garages, due to quick response of firemen and careful use of chemical extinguishers.
